

Discover grants service provider accreditation to Payhuddle to perform D-PAS Terminal End-to-End Certifications

Payhuddle Solutions, a payment consulting organization has been accredited by Discover, to provide D-PAS Terminal End-to-End Certifications (E2E)

Discover is a direct bank and payment services company that operates the Discover Global Network which includes Discover, and Diners Club International and PULSE. This accreditation makes Payhuddle a part of a select group of companies who can offer certification to clients.

Discover mandates the acquirers introducing a new terminal to go through D-PAS E2E formal approval services. With this accreditation, Payhuddle would provide the formal approval services for Discover customers by ensuring the quality of implementation of contact and contactless terminals supporting Discover Network, Diners Club International and PULSE for its customers.

"We are already accredited for providing consulting service on D-PAS implementation for Discover Global Network and now this accreditation allows us to offer certification services as well on behalf of Discover. This puts us in a very responsible position as far as D-PAS acquiring is concerned and we are very happy to leverage our extensive knowledge and expertise to provide certification services for clients and partners," said Prakash Sambandam, CEO of Payhuddle.

As a Discover accredited E2E service provider, Payhuddle is recognized as having expertise in D-PAS acquirer certification and deployment of contact and contactless terminals for payments solutions. The company also provides pre-certification consulting to acquirers when they are looking at migration to EMV.

"Our association with Discover allows us to expand our market reach globally to multiple countries. We are really thrilled with this accreditation and we are looking at closely working with Discover in the regions of North America and the world over," said Indranil Chakraborty, Head Product & Consulting at Payhuddle.
